Description

EventPro® 3m x 6m Canopy & Wall Set (White – 4 Walls)

A replacement canopy and wall set for the EventPro® 3m x 6m gazebo frame. The set includes one 3m x 6m roof canopy and four full-height side walls. All pieces are 800D waterproof polyester at 380gsm, in white. The walls attach using velcro strips for tool-free fitting and removal.

This is a fabric set only. It does not include a frame or weight bases. It fits the EventPro® 3m x 6m aluminium gazebo frame (50mm hex leg).

Fabric Specification

800 denier polyester at 380 grams per square metre. This is a heavy commercial fabric that resists tearing under wind stress, blocks rain penetration, and maintains structural tension across the 6-metre span without sagging. The waterproof coating prevents water ingress. Sealed seams stop drip-through at stitch points.

The white colour reflects solar heat, maintains a professional appearance, and serves as a neutral canvas for event branding.

Wall Configuration

Four walls enclose all four sides of the 3m x 6m footprint. For access, roll up or remove one or more walls. The velcro attachment allows rapid reconfiguration during an event: open one end for public entry, close it during a rain shower, open both ends to create a walk-through tunnel.

Each wall runs full height from canopy edge to ground. The 6m-length walls (x2) cover the long sides; the 3m-width walls (x2) cover the short ends.

When to Replace

Fabric degrades under UV exposure and repeated wet/dry cycling. After 2–4 seasons of regular outdoor use, canopies develop leak points at seams, lose waterproof coating integrity, and show UV bleaching. Replacing the fabric set extends the life of your aluminium frame (which lasts 10+ years) without buying a complete new package.

Keep a spare canopy set in storage so you can swap without delay if fabric fails mid-season. Lost revenue from a cancelled event far exceeds the cost of a backup set.

Buying in Bulk

If you manage a fleet of 3m x 6m gazebos, spare fabric matters as much as spare frames. Buyers who hold 10, 20, or 50 active units often keep one canopy and wall set for every five to ten frames, so a tear or seam fault does not take a whole bay out of service. Fabric packs store with less bulk than full shelters, which makes them useful insurance stock for councils, schools, caterers, and festival operators.

You should still plan dry shelving and clear labels. Roofs and walls that look the same in a dim store can burn time on event day if crews grab the wrong size bag. Teams who run multi site work often seal each set in one marked holdall and keep a damage log near the rack so staff can pull worn fabric before the next load.

Layout Planning and Venue Use

A full wall set lets you change the same 3m x 6m footprint from an open stall into an enclosed work zone. Buyers use that flexibility for registration, secure stock holding, first aid, catering prep, and welfare space at festivals, school fairs, NHS sites, and council events. In a 100 person room or covered yard, crews often leave one long side open for guest flow and close the rear wall to screen stock, power leads, or wash up bins.

Think about access before you fit all four walls. If staff need to carry trays, roll cages, or urns through the bay, keep one end loose or rolled up and mark a clear route outside. Fire exits, service doors, and heater clearances still need open space, so teams should sketch the wall plan before they clip the first panel on.

Pairing and Care

This set belongs with the EventPro® 3m x 6m frame, the correct weight bases, and any site kit that helps crews run in poor weather. Buyers often add matting, low glare lighting, banner rails, and patio heaters placed with proper clearance at the opening. A white skin also pairs well with printed valances and loose signage, because the colour keeps the look clean across food, civic, and wedding work.

Crews get more seasons from the fabric when they dry it before bagging, brush grit off the velcro, and fold each panel on the same line after each job. The 380gsm cloth matters in use because staff can tension it across a long span without the loose sag you see in light grades. Sealed seams and heavy fabric help crews keep rain out, but no fabric can make up for a bent frame or poor ballast.
