Description

EventPro® Series Folding Chair – Black (Pack of 10)

A pack of 10 black folding chairs with heavy-gauge steel frames, reinforced hinge mechanisms, and high-strength moulded seats and backs. Each chair weighs 3kg, supports up to 110kg, and folds flat for stacking and transport. 12,000 chairs from this range were supplied to the Commonwealth Games. Trusted by the BBC, ITV, HSBC, and Cambridge University.

At 3kg each, a two-person crew sets 100 seats in under 20 minutes. The folding action is one movement: grip the seat, pull forward, and the legs lock open. Collapsing reverses the action. No pins, no clips, no loose parts.

Construction

The steel frame uses heavy-gauge tubing, not the lightweight section found in domestic folding chairs. The wall thickness handles the repeated stress of commercial use: constant folding, stacking, van loading, and deployment across multiple events per week. The reinforced hinge mechanisms resist the loosening that causes cheaper chairs to wobble after a few hundred fold cycles.

The moulded seat and backrest are high-strength polymer, contoured for comfort during events lasting several hours. The black finish is consistent across all chairs in the pack, maintaining visual uniformity when deployed in rows of 50, 100, or 500.

Typical Uses

Conference seating in theatre-style layouts. Ceremony seating at weddings and civil partnerships. Audience seating at awards presentations. Examination seating at universities. Overflow seating at corporate AGMs. Community hall events, sports dinners, school prize days, and charity fundraisers.

The folding format means you store hundreds of chairs in the space that fixed chairs would occupy in tens. A dedicated trolley holds 40+ folded chairs in a single stack for rapid room clearance.

The Pack of 10

Sold in packs of 10 for efficient ordering. Buy in multiples of 10 to build your inventory to the required level. Ten chairs serve one round table or one conference row. For a 200-seat venue, order 20 packs.

Part of the EventPro® range. The same specification deployed at the Commonwealth Games, where 12,000 units operated across multiple venues and sessions throughout the event programme.

Buying in Bulk

The pack of 10 format makes bulk buying simple. Five packs give you 50 chairs, ten packs give you 100, and twenty packs give you 200. Event managers planning school exams, council meetings, conference spillover rooms, or church halls can build stock in clear steps without odd leftovers. Because each chair folds flat, your team can stack dense loads on a trolley or in a van. Buyers who run multi room sites often hold one extra pack in reserve so a late guest count or a damaged chair does not break the layout.

A chair trolley that holds 40 or more folded chairs cuts labour on set days. Two staff members can wheel four trolley loads into a hall and seat 160 guests without hand carrying each unit across the floor. The 3kg chair weight keeps lifting work in a safe range for most crews, yet the heavy gauge frame still gives the chair a firm feel once guests sit down.

Layout Planning and Pairing

You can use black folding chairs for theatre rows, exam desks, dining rows, or round table seating. In a 100 person room, planners often set ten rows of ten for a talk, then keep 1.2 metre aisles down the sides and a wider rear route for late entry. For ceremonies, you can leave a central aisle of 1.5 metres and run chairs in blocks of eight or ten per row. At round tables, many teams stop at eight seats so guests have more room for place settings.

The black finish works with black or silver framed tables, stage decks, lecterns, and pipe and drape. Buyers use these chairs beside folding exam tables, banqueting tables, registration desks, and outdoor marquees where stock needs to look consistent from room to room. Black hides shoe scuffs and handling marks better than white, so venues with student traffic, public events, or sports use often choose this finish first.

Maintenance and Service Life

Staff can clean the seat and back with a damp cloth and mild detergent after each use. Check the hinge points, the rivets, and the feet during stock counts. If a chair takes a hard knock from a vehicle ramp or a stage deck, pull it from service and inspect the frame before the next event. Teams who fold the chairs with care, store them dry, and move them on purpose built trolleys keep them in front line use for years across schools, colleges, NHS sites, universities, and conference venues.
